On other hand workforce at department was reducing day by day leading to probability of tax evasion and also complaint of corruption were on rise with implementation of VAT regime the paperwork was on rise so a need was felt to develop a user friendly computerized system both for dealers and department officials and also a thought process was initiated to have a business analytic software which is able to forecast revenue collection based on past trend . Main challenge before department was the lack of skill set to implement the technical solution Majority of dealers felt that manual process was causing cost over runs complication in managing data and have to be at mercy of department officials without any transparency also they felt that issuance of new registration, statutory forms was inviting corrupt practices a need for online payment of taxes was also felt so that dealer could pay tax at his convenience . Department officials were also overburdened due numerous increase in volume of work due to exponential rise in business activities after formation of State. The quantam of staff available for the activities of crosschecking the data and collating the revenue receipt manually was insufficient. Tracking of dubious dealers was not easy and while issuing statutory forms there was risk of it being misused causing losses to state exchequer . CMC started the computerization in 2005 but it was limited to back office computerization the dealer side was still manual so in 2010 NIC was entrusted the task of conceptualizing and developing a e-portal for dealers and also developing business intelligence software to detect tax fraud for use of department.
