Index Terms – Paper submission, National Conference, e-Governance, submission guidelines.

I. Introduction

In an effort to produce high-quality proceedings with common formatting for all papers, this document is provided as a template for paper submissions. Please follow these guidelines as closely as possible.

The introduction and subsequent sections of the paper are to be prepared in this format. The total paper length should not exceed 6 pages. Footnotes in the text should be numbered consecutively as superscripts in the order they appear in the text. Number your citations consecutively in square brackets [1], and in the order in which they are first referenced in the text.

A. General Formatting Guidelines

Please prepare your paper in full-size Letter format, 21.59 cm by 27.94 cm(8.5 inches by 11 inches). Your paper must be submitted electronically as a word document (.doc) with tables and figures in their proper positions.

i. Fonts and Type Sizes

Use Times New Roman in 10-point font size with full(left and right) justification, unless specified otherwise in Table I. If Times New Roman is not available for your word processor, use a similar proportional serif typeface.

ii Margins and other Formatting.

Set the top and bottom margins to 2.54 cm (1 inch) and left and right margins 1.90 cm (0.75 inch). With the exception of the paper title and author information, use two column formats with equal column width of 8.51 cm (3.35 inches) with 0.76 cm (0.3 inch) spacing between. Use automatic hyphenation and be sure to check for proper grammar and spelling (preferably using English U.K. language).

Body texts paragraphs are indented 0.33 cm (0.125 inch), use singly line spacing and are followed with 3-point spacing below each paragraph. Level 1 heading should have 6-point spacing above and below, while level 2 and 3 headings are indented 0.65 cm (0.25 inch) and should have 6-point spacing below only. The paper title and author affiliation should have 12-point spacing below.

iii Authors and Affiliations, Abstracts and Index Terms

Provide full names of all authors. Also give each author's affiliated company and/or institution, full mailing address and email address.

Keep the abstract to a maximum of 200 words. In addition, provide up to 5 keywords or index terms.

II. HELPFUL HINTS

A. Figures and Tables

Figures and tables should be positioned at the tops and bottoms of columns. Please avoid placing them in the middle of columns. Large figures and tables can span across both columns, if necessary. Use colour to enhance your figures if you wish, but do not rely on colour as the only mean to distinguish between chart lines etc.

Figure captions should be below the figures while table captions should be above the tables. Avoid placing a figure or table before their first mention in the text.

Use centre justification for all figures, tables and captions, and follow all with 12-point spacing below. Figure captions should end with a period, while table captions should not. Also note that table captions use small caps.

B. Abbreviations and Acronyms

Define abbreviations and acronyms in full, the first time they are used in the text, even after they have already been defined and used in the abstract. Widely known abbreviations and acronyms such as SWAN, SDC, CSC, IT, ICT NREGA, SLA, RTI, BPR, GPR, GoI do not have to be defined. If possible, avoid use of abbreviations in the paper title; element symbols are acceptable.

C. Units

Do not use English units except as secondary units (in parenthesis) and when referring to trade identifiers and standards, such as “3.5-inch disk drive”. If you must use mixed units, clearly state the units for each quantity that you use in an equation.

Spell out units when they appear within the text (“a few milliwatts per kilometer”, not “a few mW/km”), and avoid mixing complete spellings of units with abbreviations (such as in “mW/kilometer”). Use “cm”.

III. REFERENCES AND FOOTNOTES

A. Footnotes

Footnotes in the text should be numbered consecutively as superscripts in the order they appear in the text. Where possible, place them at the bottom of the column in which they were cited<sup>1</sup>, do not place them in the reference list. Use letters for footnotes in tables and figures, and place the footnotes immediately beneath the table or figure (and before the caption in the case of a figure).

1 format your footnotes like this

B. References

Number your citations consecutively in square brackets [1], and in the order in which they are first referenced in the text. Refer simply to the reference number such as "... shown in [2], 'rather than'... shown in reference [2], "except at the beginning of a sentence. When citing multiple sources use "[2]-[10]" or "[1],[5],[6]," as appropriate.

Use full journal and conference titles unless constrained by space limits, in which case use generally accepted abbreviations only (be consistent). Provide location, volume and issue numbers, page numbers, and dates where possible. Journal and conference titles should be italicized, and paper titles should be in quotations, as in [2],[3]. Capitalize only the first word (and proper nouns or abbreviations) in the paper title. To reference a page range use "pp." as in [2], but to indicate a single page use "p." as in [4].

Provide all authors' names unless there are six or more, in which case, use "et al" (no comma before "et) after the first author, as in [5]. Papers that have been accepted for publication but are yet to appear should be listed as "in press" and an expected date (if known) should be provided, as in [5]. Papers that are in review or are otherwise unpublished should be cited as "unpublished" as in [6]. Papers published in translation journals should be cited with the English citation first, followed by the original foreign-language citation [7].

When citing books or chapters, book titles should be italicized and edition number, publisher, and page numbers should be given where applicable. When citing an online reference, provide the web-site owner, publication date (if not known, use "n.d" instead), title of the page, full URL, and the date last accessed and indicate that it is an online reference. #### IV. MISCELLANEOUS RECOMMENDATIONS

Do not number the ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS and REFERENCES section headings. Use a zero before decimal points “0.25”, not “.25”. Do not use page numbers or any other headers or footers in the paper. The abbreviation “i.e.” means “that is”, and “e.g.” means “for example.” Place periods and commas within parentheses and quotation marks, as was done in the previous sentence.

V. ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Do not number this section and also the References section. This section is optional. If used, try to keep acknowledgement as brief as possible.
